Pembina Valley Daze at Weekend

Evansburg and district is holding its annual Pembina Valley Daze summer fair on the weekend of July 15. The action kicks off Friday night with a dance for the younger set at the Legion Hall.

Saturday morning early risers will be treated to a pancake and sausage breakfast on main street, followed by a gala parade.

At noon the arena grounds come to life with a Jackpot Gymkhana; an eight-team, two-day fastball tournament, midway rides and games, and a horseshoe tournament. A supper hour pit barbeque at the arena grounds and a dance at the Legion Hall round out the day.

On Sunday afternoon fastball fans can enjoy the final games of the two-day tournament.

The Pembina Valley Daze committee invites everyone to join in the fun July 15 and 16.

Annual Brazeau Fish Derby This Weekend

The fisherman's chance to catch "that big one" and gain some recognition is coming up July 14th, 15th and 16th at the Brazeau Dam.

It's the Pembina Oilfield Fish and Game Association third annual Fish Derby, starting at 6:00 p.m. Friday, July 14th, and ending 6:00 p.m. Sunday, July 16th.

The Northern Pike event offers $100.00 for first prize and tackle box as second; $50.00 for first in Pickerel, and Len Thompson spoon assortment for second; $50 first in Goldeye and Mepps Keller Kits second; and $50 first in Trout and Mepps Keller Kits second prize. A $50.00 prize is offered to the lady catching the biggest fish, while a $25.00 prize is offered to the under-16-year-old catching the biggest fish.

All fishing must be done at the Brazeau Dam or at its tributaries. Grills will be supplied for a Saturday evening barbeque.

Air Pollution Problems Discussed at Hearing

Whether or not the Brazeau River sulfur plant owned by Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas Company will be expanded as proposed some weeks ago, now awaits the decision of the Energy Resources Conservation Board and the Minister of the Environment.

As a result of concern of Drayton Valley and area residents over possible sulfuric acid and sulfur dioxide pollution in relation to a proposed expansion of the plant, a public hearing which was to have been held in Calgary two weeks ago was adjourned to Drayton Valley July 5th.

About 10 citizens attended the hearing at the Legion Hall, most to back any questions the board and members of Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas (HBOG) would ask concerning their letters of opposition, and to get a chance, themselves, to question the company's decision and to voice their objections.

Following explanations by HBOG, some of the objectors seemed satisfied that the company was as concerned as Drayton Valley over pollution, and would be doing all they could to prevent environmental damage.

As pointed out by W. Mareka, Supervisor of Process Engineering, the plant under question is located 62 road miles, or 48 air miles southwest of Drayton Valley; the nearest residential centre being Lodgepole, some 28 air miles east of the plant.

Since the plant began its operation in 1969, he said, the company never received any complaint regarding the activities of the plant.

Owned by six companies, of which HBOG is the largest owner and the operator, the proposed expansion, constituting another four wells, would be able to facilitate another 82.1 million cubic feet per day of gas. The combined operation then would emit 18.1 long tons of sulfur per day.

The new stack would be 360 feet high, as opposed to the present 190 foot stack, and would thus allow for greater dispersal of sulfur dioxide and, as a result, less possibility of high concentrations of gas at ground level.

Mr. Mareka explained that these figures were based on the maximum emission level, but that normal operations are usually much lower.

In the company's original application for expansion, the height of the stack had been proposed as 275 feet. However, in learning of pending legislation requiring a maximum level of 0.17 parts gas per million of ground level emission instead of the present regulation requiring 0.3 parts per million, an amendment to the application was made setting the height of the stack at 360 feet.

The plant, therefore, can limit ground level concentration of SO2 to not exceed 0.17 parts per million.

The plant is equipped with several devices to measure concentrations of emissions; ground level concentrations

The Entwistle girls 16 years and under beat Moon Lake and took the plaque which is up for competition each year. The Beer Festival was thoroughly enjoyed, with music supplied by the Peden orchestra.

Entwistle Pool Open for Season

The Entwistle swimming pool has been open for nearly a week and the lessons are to start on July 10th. The various hours will be announced next week. There are four instructors with Norine Messenter as cashier. Many more children should have a good idea of swimming by the time their lessons are finished.

D.V. Highlights

BY MRS. EDITH DEBY

It is reported by the senior citizens making the bus trip to southern Alberta last week that is was a splendid outing and was most thoroughly enjoyed.

Our sympathy is with Mrs. Robert MacMillan whose mother, Mrs. Smith, passed away in hospital in Smith Falls, Ontario on July 7th. Mrs. Smith had been a long time resident of Merrickville, Ontario and was well know by some of our Drayton Valley people, namely the Suffrons, Munros, Jack Kendrick and Gary Gough.

Mrs. Dora Kynoch's family rallied around her on Sunday for a family re-union which included Mrs. William (Mary) Block and family of Madsen's Landing, B. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Roy (Margaret) Dethridge, of Whitecourt; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dethridge also of Whitecourt; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kynoch and family and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kynoch and family. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Baylor (Evelyn Kynoch) and family of Wetaskiwin and Mrs. Mae Gettling (Mrs. Kynoch's sister) of New Westminster, B. C. Mrs. Block and Mrs. Gettling are Mrs. Kynoch's house guests.

Congratulations and good wishes go to Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Wallis, nee Georgena Mazur, who were married in Drayton Valley on Saturday.

Our sympathy is extended to Mrs. Peter Bureyko whose sister died at her home in Vancouver last week. Mr. and Mrs. Bureyko attended the funeral with Mrs. Bureyko staying on for a time.

POLLUTION DISCUSSED

are monitored by exposure facilities which measure hydrogen sulfide and SO2; as well, sulfur dust is monitored; stack surveys are conducted yearly, and emission reports are made to the government.

Howard Becker, Manager of Environmental Conservation for HBOG, pointed out, the present level of SO2 in the atmosphere is not sufficient to eliminate the deficiency existent in soils in this area.

And under the worst possible weather conditions and winds blowing directly to Drayton Valley, the amount of SO2 in the air at ground level would be 1.4 parts per billion, as compared to safety standards set by the government at .10 parts per million.

A maximum level has been set by the federal government, Mr. Becker said, which provides for human well being. The Alberta standards are even more stringent, he said.

"Through proper dispersion and proper dillution," he said, "ground level concentrations are ensured."

"Therefore, we want to assure you that HBOG is doing everything they can to ensure human confort," he said.

Frank Hoge, of Violet Grove, who has had experience with SO2 pollution in such areas as Sulfur City, questioned the company. He felt that it should have been the government who informed the public as to possible pollution from the plant. He felt that the government could afford researchers into this problem more than any company concerned in making a profit.

Dudley Newell, representing three doctors as well as himself, expressed the idea that the people should be looking at the total amount of emission of all plants in Alberta rather than individual emission. He felt in this way that a truer reading of air pollution would be obtained.

When asked if she had ever noticed any environmental change as a result of the plant's emissions, Mrs. Peggy Tyler said she hadn't, but was not, of course, trained to notice such a thing. She felt that pollution could creep up on us, and that's why steps should be taken now to avoid such a occurence.

In closing, Mr. B. F. Sims, representing HBOG in its application to the Board, requested the application be granted.

Being a resident of Alberta, and particularly Calgary, where four similar sulfur plants operate, he too expressed his concern with pollution.

He agreed with Mrs. Tyler in her idea that pollution is insiduous, and explained that this is why HBOG has set up an Environmental department.

Although the company is limited by costs and lack of technology in fighting pollution, he emphasised the fact that HBOG is doing as much as they can in regards to the well being of individuals.

Senior Citizens Enjoy Travels

Some 31 Senior Citizens of Drayton Valley and surrounding district left town at 7:00 a.m. Monday, July 3rd on a trip to southern Alberta. The trip was pre-arranged by the Senior Group and the O.O.R.P.

After settling in at their Motel in Calgary, the group visited the Golden Age Club. This Club has over 500 members and has been in existence for 50 years. Music, group singing, and a special stage show, plus coffee and lunch, made an afternoon to be remembered.

Then on to Lethbridge on Tuesday, where they were met by the O.O.R.P. for a coffee break in the Elks Hall. They toured the Valley Feeders Association feedlot in the Valley of the Old Man River with 11,000 head on feed and room for more -- there were even some buffalo on feed. Then to museums showing coal mining and R.C.M.P. history; Battle Park with its historical displays; and the Japanese Garden with its water falls, ponds and landscaped lawns. The huge bronze bell was a major attraction, with its log bonger suspended by two chains. While posing for a group photo they met John and Louise Mikulin and their two little girls. John is a grader operator for the county.

The group went back to Calgary arriving at 9:00 p.m. Wednesday was a slower day, with a lady from the Golden Age Club as their escort. They toured the Calgary Zoo and Aviary. An interesting collection of animals in a park that is very much in its natural elements; huge river bottom cotton wood trees, some of which must be very old; ripe bananas on the tree and bamboo fishing poles on the stump, flowers, plants and birds in the Aviary and greenhouses.

After an outdoor picnic by the Bow River, the group visited Heritage Park. The old time train, vintage of 1910 at least, was a must with its steam whistle and clanging bell. Even a 1910 price -- 25¢ for a return trip to the village. A boat trip on a real stern wheeler around the lake thrilled some, while others prowled the old buildings. Some just sat in the old Wainwright Hotel and gazed longingly at the bar now converted to a lunch counter.

Thursday saw the group on to Drumheller. First stop was Horse Shoe Canyon -- a marvel of erosion. Guides joined them in Drumheller where they were shown points of interest down stream from town.

Returning to town, they were escorted with another bus load of Seniors from the Drumheller Lodge to the Hall where a lunch was served by the local O.O.R.P.

Both buses with guides then went to the Dinosaur Canyon and wandered around the various formations and animal re-creations.

The historical museum is fortunate to have been able to acquire so much of yesterday. It seems to have some of everything. The group then headed north and west for home six hours away.

The Senior Citizens thank Gordon and Dorothy Holmgren who seemed tireless and at all times courteous.

Building Permits Show Decrease

Building permits in Drayton Valley show a decrease of over $330,000 in total permits for the year to date as compared to last year's figure of over $1,400,000, according to a Journal of Commerce report issued this month.

However, totals for the month of June were $39,500 higher this year than in June of 1971, coming up with a total of $159,100.

In comparing residential, institutional, commercial, and industrial figures, institutional totals showed no permits issued for the month of June 1972, while last June had a total of $49,500. However, commercial permits for June of this year reached $48,400 as compared to no issues last year.

The greatest change occurred in institutional permits issued, with a $140,610 decrease for this year to date as compared to last year's total of $783,500. Residential permits for the year to date also showed a high decrease from $458,650 in 1971 to $347,685 in 1972.

Industrial permits showed an 8% decrease this year to date, although a 100% decrease was experienced for the month of June, with no industrial permits issued at all.

The only increases indicated were in residential permits for the month of June, with a total of $110,700 as compared to 1971's $63,600; in commercial permits for the month of June; and in commercial permits for the year to date with a $26,980 jump.

Students Attend Drama School

Five Drayton Valley students will be attending the Provincial Summer Drama Schools this year. Heather McKenzie, Dave Fraser, Krista Hansen, Dale Chenery and Linda Parfiniuk are taking the opportunity to improve acting abilities at the Drumheller School.

Summer Drama Schools, in their thirteenth year under the sponsorship of the Drama Division, Cultural Development Branch, Government of Alberta, have grown from 30 students and a staff of two to a capacity enrolment of over 200 students and 20 instructors.

The schools offer a serious, intensive theatre study course. The calibre of teachers and the kind of subsidization the schools receive, demand applicants to be prepared to give nothing less than their total energies and potential.

Linda Parfiniuk

Four programs are offered by the Schools -- a one-week course for beginning teens (minimum age 14) in Drumheller; a two-week course for intermediate teens open to all second-year students of the Drumheller Summer Drama School, and other teens with experience and training (minimum age 15; maximum age 17) in Drumheller; a three-week advanced course for those wishing to concentrate on Acting and Production and are 18 years of age and over in Olds, and a three-week Teachers' course at Olds.

Because of increasing large enrolment of the Summer Drama School in Drumheller, the over 18, Teacher, and Community Drama Leader Schools have been taken to new facilities in Olds.

The five Drayton Valley students will be participating in the Drumheller program July 30 - August 5th and will take such courses as Creative Drama, Acting, Movement, Speech, Stagecraft, and Make-Up.

They will be instructed in acting by Gil Bunch, one of the outstanding teachers, adjudicators, and directors in western Canada; and Alice Polley, Assistant Supervisor of Drama for the Province of Alberta

Dale Chenery

Dave Fraser

Krista Hansen

Freda de Branscoville and Jane Flemming will instruct Speech; Julia Blazuk, Creative Drama specialist, and Peter Bayley instruct Creative Drama; Robin Carson, Stagecraft and Make-up; and Wally Seibert, dance teacher who came from New York to join the U of A Drama Staff, will teach Movement.

Hail Activity Light in June

Hail activity in June was well below normal this year and in fact since the Alberta Hail Studies began in 1957 only in one June, namely 1969 has there been less hail. Hail was reported within a 90 mile radius of Penhold on 15 days which is below the average of 19 days for June. However, all of the storms were short-lived and no well organized persistent storms formed during the month.

As a result of this spotty and isolated hail activity a total of only 176 hail reports were mailed in from farmers last month which is about one quarter of the average over the last 15 years.

In the area south of Calgary down to the Montana border, there was even less hail, with a total of 17 reports mailed in on 10 days during the whole month.

The most striking feature of the hail activity in June was the almost complete lack of large hail. Only 8 farmers in the whole province reported stones walnut size or larger. As a result of this, and the early stage of crop development, very little in the way of hail damage was reported.

Although Project Hailstop began over two weeks ago on June 19th, only one seeding experiment has been carried out to date. This was on June 21st when many storm cells tracked northwest across the primary target area. Several of the largest cells were seeded in the Three Hills-Rumsey-Elnora region with a total of 81 flares.

On all other days since then no storms with tops higher than 25,000 feet threatened the target area, and since these do not usually produce hail any larger than shot of pea size they were not seeded. Seeding flares are being conserved for the severe storm activity that usually occurs in July and August.

Report From Parliament Hill

By Allen Sulatycky, M.P.

In the last four years I have come to accept, and, I hope, understand many of the sometimes strange procedures which apply in the day-to-day conduct of Parliament.

Recently, the House of Commons went through a marathon voting session which pointed out dramatically the absurdity of the traditional method employed to register votes in Parliament.

The method used at present was logical enough before the age of electronics and computers. It consists of the Speaker asking those members who are in favor of the motion upon which the vote is being taken to stand up in succession. One of the clerks of the House then calls the names of the members who stand up while another clerk makes a note of the names of such members. The the Speaker asks all those who oppose the motion to rise, and the same process of recording the vote in opposition ensues.

It takes 15-20 minutes to record one vote. Often, three to five votes may take place in succession, and then the time involved becomes substantial. Added to the actual time required to record the vote is the time taken to ring the bells calling Members into the Chamber to vote. The bells may ring for 15 minutes before each vote.

Recently while voting on the expenditures for the coming months, the NDP asked for recorded votes on more than 80 separate items to which they objected. The voting started at 10:00 in the evening, and by 3:00 the following morning only 12 votes had been taken. Members from all sides of the House were by this time thoroughly tired and an agreement was reached among all the parties to take just one vote on all the items. This deprived those Members who wished to have their vote on a particular item recorded, of that possibility. The system, therefore, was shown to have shortcomings, aside from the great waste of time involved.

In the four years of this Parliament countless hours of valuable debating time had to make way for this archaic way of voting. In this era of computers better methods exist and we should be ready to use them.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

By KEVIN PETERSON

When Alberta MLAs open their education of the future debate in the Legislature in November, one of Dr. Worth's ideas that is not going to get much support concerns the traditional bugbear of the sales tax.

Unlike past study groups, the commissioner has not come right out and recommended a sales tax be implemented for education--but he comes as close as he possibly can.

"There is growing acceptance of the inevitability of a general sales tax," his report notes. "Perhaps the greater appeal of such a tax lies in the fact that it is paid frequently and in small amounts."

While the former University of Alberta vice-president does not suggest other tax changes, he does note a 5% sales tax and income tax with increases of one per cent in 1973, 1975, and every five years thereafter would keep education spending close to the present level of 36% of the province budget.

Despite some of the apparent glamor and cost of his recommendations, Dr. Worth maintains acceptance of his system would cost no more than continuation of the existing system.

His report estimates costs of providing universal kindergartens to be $21 million in 1975, while ACCESS (the television network) would cost $31 million to set up. But Dr. Worth says economies such as shortening the current four-year bachelor degree programs and using increased home teaching would cut costs.

Regardless of the system, Dr. Worth predicts education will cost the province $934 million in 1980 and $1.5 to $1.9 billion in 1990.

Dr. Worth also takes note that the recent introduction of regional bargaining for teacher contracts has led to "an unprecedented number of teachers' strikes or near-strikes."

"Few people were encountered by the commission who argued for retention of the strike weapon, a blunt instrument at best where professional personnel are involved and the public interest is affected," he said.

Instead, he proposes a system called "final offer selection" which has been tried at the University of Alberta. Under the system, both sides present a final offer to a party agreed on by both sides.

Arguments are heard regarding both positions and the officer selects the proposal he feels is most reasonable. "Each party would be reluctant to risk a deadlock without good evidence to justify its point of view, since the other party's final offer might then be selected as the more reasonable of the two."

As another means of keeping in-school costs down, the report recommends that increased use be made of volunteers and non-professional teacher's aides.

Time for Summer Fun and Safety Precautions

Summer is that lazy, carefree time of year that often lulls families into forgetting important safety precaustion.

Frequently, warm weather hazards disguise themselves as fun and games, but actually lead to carelessness and accidental injury.

The Council of Family Health in Canada, a non-profit organization sponsored by the drug industry to promote home safety and family health, points out some of the masks these hazards can wear:

SPRAYS THAT BRING RELIEF FROM SUMMER INSECTS:
Always follow directions closely when using insecticides. Do not use sprays where they might be inhaled. Cover food before spraying inside or outside the house. If spray gets on the skin, wash it off immediately.

THE PICNIC AT THE BEACH OR IN THE WOODS:
To prevent food poisoning take care that food is properly prepared, stored and transported. Foods high in protein and moisture are more likely to spoil than others and should be avoided for picnics unles hot foods can be maintained at 140 degrees F. or above, and cold foods can be kept at temperatures of 45 degrees F. or below.

The same grill used indoors in a poorly ventilated room during bad weather may expose the family to poisonous monoxide fumes.

MEDICINE TAKEN ON TRIPS TO RELIEVE PAIN AND PREVENT ILLNES
Always carry medicine in its original container. Keep medicines separately packed from toiletries and cosmetics. Do not give medicine prescribed for one member of the family to any other member.

OPEN WINDOWS THAT LET IN FRESH AIR AND SUMMER SUN:
The same open windows attract small children. Prevent serious falls by installing screens or bars at upstairs windows. Do not leave youngsters unattended in a room with open windows.

THE SUN, SOURCE OF WARMTH AND SUMMER TANS
Too much sun can result in severe burns. Too much exposure can cause sunstroke. Too much activity and lack of caution can bring on heat stroke.

Reeve Endorses Baseball Week

Reeve, Mr. Les Miller urges citizens of Parkland and district to support Canada's annual Amateur Baseball Week, which runs from July 23 to 29, 1972.

"The importance of Amateur Baseball in the proper development of Youth cannot be over-emphasized", the Reeve said, in announcing his support.

"It has long been recognized that keeping a boy active is the best way to insure his development in the proper direction. Minor Baseball provides one of the best opportunities for activity of this type we have today.

"Every citizen has a stake in providing such constructive recreational opportunities for our youngsters. When the boys benefit, the community benefits and because the community benefits, the community must contribute. We do this by supporting Amateur Baseball Week in Canada."

He said baseball teaches a boy sportsmanship, respect, team-play, competitiveness, discipline and co-operation. "It is an outstanding character-building sport", he added.

Reeve Miller also paid tribute to those who spend so many hours organizing and operating the many leagues and games for the youngsters of this community. "They are the lifeblood of amateur sport and deserve our most sincere commendation."

He continued: "I know of no better way to observe Amateur Baseball Week in Canada than to go out to the Ball Park and Root for the boys. You'll enjoy it."

Amateur Baseball Week in Canada is being directed by the Canadian Federation of Amateur Baseball in conjunction with recognized Provincial Governing Bodies. Co-Chairmen of this National Promotion are Jean-Robert Nolet, of Montreal, and Ron Hayer, of Edmonton.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor,
Western Review:

In the June 28 issue of the Western Review, under the heading of the Reeve's Report, there are certain inaccuracies which I feel I must correct--not as an M.L.A. but as a former councillor for the old M.D. of Stony Plain, and later for the County of Parkland. I hope this will close the matter for all concerned.

In making statements pertaining to expenditures for the Western Divisions of the County, I would have hoped the eastern divisions expenditures would have been given so there would be a comparison, and the ratepayer could see the picture clearly. So, if space will permit, I will do this. These records are recorded in the County Office.

We must remember when the County was formed in 1969, the former L.I.D. 77 was divided in whole or in part into Divisions 5,6 &7; in other words, the western divisions. It must, for all purposes, be considered this way, and the remaining four divisions must be considered as Eastern divisions.

So, in 1969, L.I.D. 77, which now forms Divisions 5,6, & 7 of the County of Parkland, brought into the County almost $400,000 in cash out of its trust accounts. Within another eight months, they brought in another $200,000 cash from tax arrears. In other words, in the marriage of L.I.D. 77 and the County of Parkland, the County became almost $600,000 richer.

Now let us look at how the Public Works Expenditures were carried out by Divisions since 1969, and let us now divide the County into their respective east-west divisions--5,6, & 7 as Western and 1,2,3, & 4 as Eastern. It forms an almost different picture. The figures I now quote can be verified by County Office records.

In 1969, the Eastern Divisions 1,2,3, & 4 spent a total of $436,416.96 in Public Works. To get an average, we would divide this figure by four and arrive at a figure of. $109,104.24. In other words, we spent an average of $109,104.24 per division in the eastern part of the County.

In the Western three divisions 5,6, & 7, we spent $299,164.82 in Public Works in 1969. The average expenditure per Division was $99,721.60. So we see that in 1969 we spent about $10,000 more per division in the Eastern part of the County than in the Western part.

In 1970 the four eastern divisions spent a total of $626,189.09 in Public Works; the average per division being $156,547.27. In the same period the three western divisions spent $438,507.50 on Public Works, or an average per division of $146,169.16. Again we see that per division in 1970, $10,000 more was spent in the eastern end than in the west.

In 1971, the four eastern divisions spent a total of $681,587.57, or an average of $170,396.04 per division. At the same time, the western divisions spent a total of $408, 804.93 on Public Works, or an average per division of $136,268.31. In other words, in the eastern part of the County the expenditure on Public Works was $34,000 higher per division than in the western end.

In concluding the three-year average per division, we find that we spent some $54,000 more per division in the east than in the west.

Now let us look at the Public Works expenditures in Divisions 1 and 2, against Divisions 6 and 7 as mentioned in the report. The expenditures were as follows:

1969--Div. 1, $96,112.97; Div. 2, $96,309.50; Div. 6, $110,336.10; and Div. 7, $94,412.33.

1970--Div. 1,$124,129.19; Div. 2, $129,982.30; Div. 6, $142,880.53; and Div. 7, $154,014.66.

1971--Div. 1,$171,219.73; Div. 2, $178,019.63; Div. 6, $141,156.39; and Div. 7, $133,051.25.

We find that Divisions 1 and 2 spent in total for Public Works during this time period $795,773.26 and Divisions 6 and 7 spent $775,841.17. Divisions 1 and 2 spent $9,932.09 more than Divisions 6 and 7 for Public Works in the years 1969, 1970 and 1971.

Now Mr. Les Miller also maintains that the county spent $100,000 on the Lodgepole Road since 1969 to 1971 inclusive. This is true; however, he failed to say that this expenditure is included in the divisional expenditure and is accounted for in the above expenditures by divisions. There were no special funds provided by the County for this road.

Of course, there are other expenditures which do not show up in the expenditure by divisions, but come out of the general account of the County, and I will only mention one at this time; that is, the purchase of land for road widening and surveys. This runs considerably more in the eastern divisions than it does in the western divisions and I am wondering what the cost of the purchase of land for road widening really was, say on 118 Ave. Of course, there are many more areas where the costs run from $500 to $1,000 per half mile.

I will mention one more item which appears in the Reeve's Report and I know is innaccurate. When I mention it, I know he will agree it slipped his mind.

In 1969-1971 certain mill rates were levied for unapproved hospital costs in the Drayton Valley Hospital District, this district including Divisions 6 and 7 and almost all of Division 5.

The County collected some $20,000 more for this Hospital District than was paid to the hospital. It was a gentleman's agreement by Council that we would use up this money for an Ambulance service in the Hospital District for it was their money in the first place, and later on levy a mill rate when there were no more funds available from this source.

So I would say very politely, Mr. Reeve, this ambulance service is not a subsidy but is paid for, out of the $20,000 surplus from the Hospital tax collected but not paid out. Would you not agree, Mr. Les Miller, this was an agreement made by the Council that we should use this surplus in providing ambulance service in the Hospital district? I know that this fund will grow again this year by about $15,000 because of the increase in supplementary Hospital tax which will not be required by this Hospital District. This can only be called another surplus, would you not think?

Thank you again, Mr. Editor. I know there are many more items in the Report that I will question the Reeve on when we meet again.

Outlines Alberta Rabies Situation

Constant awareness of the potential rabies threat and preparedness to act quickly are both essential factors in keeping Alberta free of this disease.

Although there have not been any positive causes diagnosed for several months now, this apparent absence of rabies should not be taken for granted, warns Dr. G. R. Whenham, head of the field services branch of the Alberta veterinary services division and a member of the central rabies control committee. He points out that rabies is still fairly prevalent in Saskatchewan and could cross the border into Alberta at any time.

It is over a year since a domestic animal in Alberta has been diagnosed as rabid, but a rabid skunk was picked up in January near Skiff in the southern part of the province. A three-mile radial depopulation of skunks was carried out immediately.

This technique, says Dr. Whenham, involves removing all skunks within a three-mile radius of a positive rabies case. In all probability, all the skunks that have come in contact with the rabid animal will be removed. The technique is designed to reduce the chances of subsequent cases, and has been effective in certain areas of the United States. It also appears to be working effectively in Alberta.

Pest control officers are working in an 18-mile buffer strip along the Saskatchewan border to keep the skunk population under control. They are ready to institute radical depopulation at very short notice if a rabid skunk should be discovered, Dr. Whenham says.

A research study of the habits and movements of skunks is being carried out in the Tofield area by a fish and wildlife biologist to collect information that could be helpful in skunk control programs that may be required in the future. Up to now, skunks in Alberta have not been studied in detail. In its second year of operation, the present study entails capturing, weighing and marking the skunks which are then released.

Dr. Whenham reports that three cases of rabies have been diagnosed in bats to date. In an attempt to find out more about the role of bats in the spread of rabies, limited studies are being conducted. It is still not known whether the disease in this province has spread from bats to other animals.

Dr. Whenham urges people like veterinarians, pest control officers, fish and wildlife officers, district agriculturists and others who are likely to come in contact with rabies cases to have pre-exposure immunization through their local health units. Those who have already had this innoculation should make sure that they keep their immunity level high by having an annual booster.

Her gown of fortrel crepe was lace-trimmed with a detachable train, and carried a bouquet of yellow roses and white shasty daisies. Her jewellery was a necklace worn by the groom's mother and grandmother at their weddings, a pair of silver earrings, gift of the groom, and a wrist watch, keepsake of the bride's great- grandmother.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hagen chose a long printed and plain burnt orange fortrel gown. Both mothers wore corsages of white and yellow roses, and with white accessories.

A reception was held in the Elks Hall where a four-teired wedding cake centered the head table. The cake was baked by the bride's mother and decorated by the groom's mother.

The Master of Ceremonies was Edison Bardock of Lethbridge. Keith Taylor proposed the toast to the bride. # P.C.s Adopt Clark Promotion Policy

Joe Clark's policy to promote Canadian small towns has been adopted as formal policy by the Progressive Conservative Party, the Rocky Mountain PC has announced.

Mr. Clark's brief stated five ways in which federal policies should recognize and develop the importance of Canadian towns and other communities under 10,000 populations.

1. Present policies which now hurt or with change could help these areas should be systematically reviewed and changed.

2. A meeting should be held with provinces to develop national policy for towns and rural communities.

3. Consider establishing a "Towns Test" to determine the effect every new legislation proposition to be considered by parliament or for implementation by order-in-council would have on communities. Ensure liason between national governments by establishing a National Council which would meet quarterly for two-week periods in Ottawa to review legislation affecting rural Canada. Make informal recommendations to standing committees of Parliament and government departments and prepare formal annual reports to parliament.

4. Public servants whose decisions seriously affect these areas should have personal experience in small communities, and should spend an annual two weeks in a different town each year.

5. Establish a small agency of lawyers, economists and others independent of federal government, in the manner of a crown corporation -- partially supported by subscription of local government to assist member local governments when engaged in major confrontation with groups whose expertise is disproportionately strong.

SAFETY IN THE SUN

With the beautiful weather we've been having lately, I certainly envy you ladies who are already sun-tanned. It is a direct result of working outside and not inside, I guess. With summer vacations coming too, you're bound to see more of the sun and suntanning is fine as long as you are careful. By being careful, this means using the proper suntan products.

How fast you tan, depends mostly on the ultra violet rays of the sun and its reflection on the skin's complexion. Suntanning lotions, creams, and sprays act like a screen which lets the desirable rays filter through. Some complexions also attract tanning rays very quickly, while others may not. It is for these types of complexions that lotions are particularly important.

How fast you burn is something else though. You will burn faster on a beach where sand, wind, and water reflect ultra-violet rays -- than on your back lawn; faster in the clean country air -- than in smog where the smoke screens out some of the ultra-violet rays; and faster under direct rays. Safe exposure depends on the tendency of the skin to burn, any protective coatings, temperature, and common sense.

A good suntan preparation screens out most of the sun rays which cause burning. Trial and error will decide the best choice for you despite all the advertising. The Food and Drugs Act protects consumers against preparations containing substances that may cause injury to the health of the user.

(b) Artificial or instant tan - creates a tan indoors - you might still need sunburn protection in the sun, depending on the brand.

(c) To enjoy the sun - but it may freckle, or prefer not to tan; so look for a double action preparation which acts like a shield to keep tanning and burning rays from penetrating the skin.

Read labels and be aware of such cautions: keep preparation away from the eyes; ingredients may stain clothes; and aerosol containers may explode in the hot sun.

Some perfumes, deodorant soaps, and other toilet preparations may contain chemicals which trigger sunburn. If you burn, even while careful, one of these products may be the culprit. Also, remember that a water repellent type of suntan lotion may wash off in swimming.

A final word of caution: the sun which reflects and creates that nice warm glow on your face as you relax at the ski resort or on the beach, may also be scorching your eyeballs, so always wear sun-glasses.

If you keep these things in mind, it will make for a more enjoyable summer - not only for you, but also your family.
